These ten new cases concern me. Most cases in the prior spikes (10/2-20, 9/25-21, 9/18-25) were limited to a single location. So, while sad, they did not represent a broad based outbreak.

While I have no additional information then I present above, clearly this is not an LTC situation. It's not alarming yet but with the state's numbers going up it is, as I said, concerning.

It does not appear to be due to increased testing. Hospitalizations are going up.
